

1. Authors

Benjamin Pradel

Sociologist

Benjamin Pradel holds a PhD in urban sociology and is a consultant-researcher at Kaleido'Scop as well as co-founder of Intermède. His work focuses on four themes: Mobility and public space, Time and urban planning, Dwellings and territory, Customs and ways of life. Convinced of the cross-fertilization of research, action and training, he has joined AMO groups (project management support) in urban projects, conducted studies with public and private organizations and given conferences and lectures. Benjamin Pradel contributes to a global dynamic of reflection and continued transformation of the ways in which we construct cities and lifestyles.

Projects with the Forum

Time, leisure and mobility

Benjamin Pradel

Leaving/returning: how people remotely manage their homes

Hortense Soichet , Benjamin Pradel

Publications with the Forum